Reflection on Today's Gospel By Father Stephen

One of the ways in which we can use words for the great benefit of others is in giving advice, when asked. Most of us seek guidance when we have difficult decisions to make, even if it is hard to accept the advice. Jesus warns us in the gospel today about blind guides. "Can one man guide another? Surely both will fall into the same pit!" It is possible to notice a tiny splinter of wood in another person's eye while being unaware of the plank in our own. It is a fact that we can be unaware of certain facts about ourselves that are perfectly clear to anyone who has ever lived in the same house with us or worked in the same office. In so far as we have any blind spots in our lives, we cannot offer advice in those areas. The best thing we can do is not to guide simply by correcting but by example: by walking the right road ourselves and being a true friend. Our words then will flow from what we are and have a genuine ring about them which will lead people to take notice of them.

Please join us on Saturday mornings to pray the rosary for parishioner, Mary Brownrigg and for all in the parish who are sick and all who need prayers. All are welcome to join us each Saturday at 9.30am.
